Efficiency

Keeping costs contained

Operational efficiency is the key to profitability. From the fairing and spraying of hulls to fuel purification systems that extract the maximum return from every hour the engines are used, Landau UK can ensure that your marine operation runs as economically as possible.

A large motorboat with a red hull and white upper section is mounted on a trailer. The boat has a black cabin with windows and a roll-over protection structure. It is equipped with various fixtures, including a ladder, railings, and a searchlight. The boat is parked on a paved surface, and the background shows a clear blue sky and other boats in the distance.

Support

Backup when you need it most

Whether you simply require a repair or need something replaced right now, Landau UK has it covered, with trained, qualified and experienced technicians available 24/7.

Service & Maintenance

Keeping your operation running smoothly

Landau UK creates service and maintenance solutions to suit specific tariffs. We can forecast pricing, create detailed tailor-made maintenance schedules and provide turn-key solutions across the board. Giving you a planned solution and minimising inconvenience.

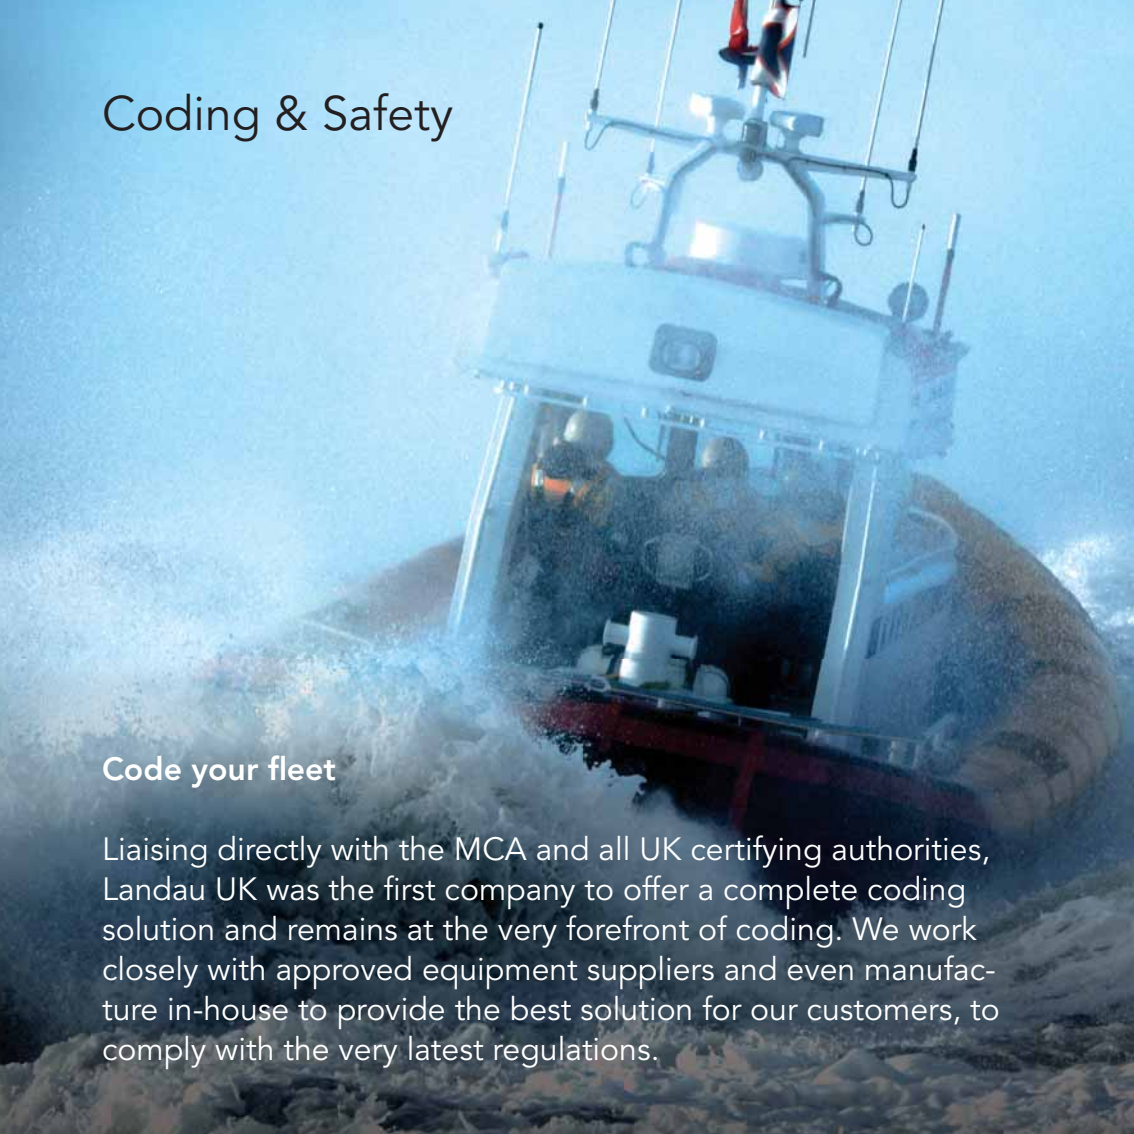

Equipment

A photograph of two divers in full scuba gear, including helmets and large air tanks, swimming underwater. The water is clear and blue, with sunlight filtering through from above. The divers are positioned in the center of the frame, moving towards the right.

Equip for business

From an anchor to the very latest ROTINOR commercial and military dive propulsion vehicles, Landau UK has the scope to meet all of your marine business needs from stem to stern and further afield.

Coding & Safety

Code your fleet

Liaising directly with the MCA and all UK certifying authorities, Landau UK was the first company to offer a complete coding solution and remains at the very forefront of coding. We work closely with approved equipment suppliers and even manufacture in-house to provide the best solution for our customers, to comply with the very latest regulations.

Installation

The latest technology at your fingertips

From a basic radar installation to a complete refit of a ship's facilities, Landau UK specialises in keeping your fleet up to date and configured specifically to your needs. We cover ship layout modifications, 110v, 240v & 420v systems, bespoke navigation suites, heating and air conditioning systems, commercial generator installations and more.
